

100 Years ago in The American Mathematical Monthly

Professor H. S. WHITE, of Vassar College, was elected a member of the National Academy of Sciences at the annual meeting held last April in Washington, D.C. The other members representing pure mathematics in this Academy are Professors BÔCHER, BOLZA, DICKSON, MOORE, OSGOOD, STOREY, and VAN VLECK.

The cover for the May issue was dated "April" by an oversight of the printer. The printed slip herewith may be used to correct the error. The next issue of the MONTHLY, will be for September, 1915.
